

Smart Solutions for Helping Experiments

Naufer Nusran, nusran@ameslab.gov

Python codes can be found at: <https://github.com/nmnusran/ScienceBound>

Ames Laboratory scientists design cutting-edge experiments for exploring materials. The success of these experiments can often be impacted by outside conditions, such as temperature or humidity. Scientists use a low-cost, tiny palm-top computer, known as Raspberry Pi to help troubleshoot these problems.

